Breath of Fire 2 (GBA) Item Listing with Gameshark codes, release 07.30.02
Kurt Reonis (dpe@mindless.com)
www.reonis.d2g.com

This item listing is a comprehensive guide to every item in Breath of Fire 2 for the Gameboy Advanced. I've also included the Gameshark code to REPLACE whatever you have in slot one of your inventory.

This listing is three sections; Offense, Defense and Items. Each section is alphabetized according to each item and includes the Gameshark code. Be sure to understand that all of these codes are for Slot One in your inventory. You cannot load two different items into the same slot and expect things to work fine. I do have the addresses for the rest of the inventory slots; but, I not want to list them out...take a gander at the codes for Golden Sun on the Gameshark site and you'll see what I mean.

I've included the item location information from the Breath of Fire 2 Handbook for SNES that was written by Ben Siron and is currently maintained by James Greene. You can view this fine, detailed FAQ at the GameFAQs site under the SNES section for BOF2. If more information is needed please refer to that document. This is the pertinent text from the FAQ that will allow more understanding of that field:

For all items for which the location where it can be found (found only once) is listed, places in parenthesis denote that the item is found there, not bought. The 'Maniro:X' location means that the item can be bought by catching Maniro at the correct Fishspot. 'Tsr.Box:X' likewise refers to fishing. 'S:X' indicates (for equipment) that character X starts out with that item equipped. 'Battle' indicates that on rare occasions, you will win this item from defeating particular monsters in battle.

The location 'oven' means that if you have the carpenter who cooks items, you may produce this item by cooking other items. The location 'shop' refers to one of the three standard item shop types, described in the 'Goods & Services' section. Since type 1 & 2 item shops are so plentiful, if an item can be bought there, I will not bother to list any other locations where it may be found.

The location 'Othello' means that this item can be won from the carpenter who builds the treehouses. Refer to the 'Othello' section for more details.
