III. About Costumes

Costumes are collectible items in Ham-Ham Games, and you can use them through your player card on the main screen of the game to change the costume that your little hamster is wearing. That is basically the sole purpose of costumes. Although seemingly useless, they are nevertheless cute and there is always a satisfying quality in having all the items in a game.

You can start collecting costumes either before or after Diving on the second day of the 1st Tournament. When you go back to the clubhouse, Postie the mailham runs in yelling, "Samples! Samples!" and gives you a starter kit of hamster costumes. When you go to sleep, Crystal tells you that you can change costumes with the Player Card and get costumes by trading with friends.

Credit to Prof 9: You can get different costumes depending upon whether you play as a girl or a boy, which are TBA.

IV. Costume Locations

--

If you go to any of these destinations (except any involving the Ham Shopping Network or Athlete's Village) after you've already gotten the costume, you get sunflower seeds instead. If you go there before Postie introduces costumes, you don't get anything.

There are some costumes that have been submitted to me by readers, although with unsure prices and criteria to get them, which will be marked with (???)

I will be looking into this, but reader help and confirmations are appreciated. :)

For more information on the Ham Shopping Network, see Section V of this FAQ.

V. Ham Shopping Network Order

In case you're too lazy or confused to try to arrange the order of costumes you buy from the Ham Shopping Network from the alphabetical list, this is the order that you buy costumes from the Ham Shopping Network, with a maximum of one costume per day.

You can buy costumes from the Costumes from the Ham Shopping Network (between the 2nd and 3rd events of the day), which is the main purpose of getting sunflower seeds. The costumes are bought in a specific order from cheapest to most expensive, each costume increasing by 10 sunflower seeds as you buy them.

After you buy all the costumes from the Ham Shopping Network, the TV program between the 2nd and 3rd events of the day becomes Ham Requests.

Name	Seeds
1. Sheep	40
2. Raccoon	50
3. Withered Tree	60

4. Ant	70
5. Scallop	80
6. Polar Bear	90
7. Swan	100
8. Armadillo	110
9. Cat	120
10. Crab	130
11. Snowman	140
12. Fir Tree	150

[Credit to Prof 9]

Between the events, but before the last event of the day, take a nap in the bed. Then, at night, you will be viewing Ham Shopping Network At Night, featuring Mr. Matsu with green clothes, and Postie as the guest. Now you can buy special limited-edition costumes, for 200 sunflower seeds! (These costumes are to be added!)
