Magnus Gathering Faq for Baiten Kaitos Origins
by Sister (sis_cindy@hotmail.com)
Copyright October, 2006 by Sister (C. Minguez)

Version 2.0

Version 2.2 - added corrections/information from markinct and Cathy G. which includes a MAJOR update about how coupons work from markinct Version 2.3 - tiny update about Power Pellet. Thanks, Lings!

Purpose: This faq is to help the BKO fan find all the magnus in the game and complete the magnus section of the gathering. Unlike the first Baiten Kaitos, in which seeing a magnus was enough to have it added to your list, in Origins, you must own the magnus. Thankfully, the record of the magnus you have collected is carried over in your clear-save data, so this endeavor is best carried on between games, as well. I put together this list in one playthrough to see if I could get them all in one go. At present, I have 646 of 655, so I got close. Spreading it over two or more games would be much easier because you could collect more coupons, spread the cost out, etc. While I haven't confirmed it yet, I suspect that one of my missing magnus is a prize for the completion of the field guide. If so, this cannot be done in one playthrough of the game anyway. It is not the purpose of this faq to go into great detail on sidequests, upgrading, etc. While I'll mention them, the primary purpose here is providing locations of magnus. I won't attempt to list every location for every magnus found in the game either; I'll just give you an option or two to fill any given slot. I haven't been through Tarazed yet, so if I find anything really interesting there, I'll add it later.

Spoiler warning: One word of warning - there are necessarily spoilers here because lots of items are collected after certain events or boss fights. If it's your first time playing the game, you might not want to go any further for now. If you play through once on your own, you could come back to this list to fill in the places you missed. Again, it's up to you, but I warned you.

Copyright and contact stuff: This is my work. You're welcome to use it as long as you're not selling it. Gamefaqs is the only place I will be submitting it. If you want to post it on your site, I don't mind, but I'd appreciate it if you'd let me know. Feel free to contact me with any info I may have missed or mistakes you find at sis_cindy@hotmail.com. Please, however, don't write to list all of the shop items that I left out. While I appreciate it, I already have all of those written down. If needed, I can add a shop section later. I'd love to know where the items I'm missing are though. :)

Trading: Lots of equipment and items can be acquired through trading. Don't be too hasty in throwing out excess equipment; use it for trade instead. While I list different locations for items, you might try trading first before you buy or use up precious coupons. There are traders all over the world, so use them to your advantage. I'd also highly recommend that you always keep two or three of each weapon. Trade upgrades (upgrades, not regular equipment) that you don't need. Some pieces of equipment have several different upgrades; you might need that Glimmer you just traded off. Stick with stuff you're sure you won't need. There's a lot of overlap among traders (I suspect you can get most anything from any of them with the right offer), but I'll mention who I got something from for trades.

Trading Tips: Trading takes a bit of getting used to. I first intended to list the items I traded for what only to discover that it's too random to bother writing down, so I'll give you a couple of tips instead. There's a three-magnus limit on what you can offer for trade, so if you want nice items, you'll need to offer some nice ones in exchange. For example, I traded Garm for a Fate's Kiss. It came up immediately when I offered an upgraded Holy Shroud or Saint's Armor. We traded one magnus for one magnus. Start with one card and see what comes up then add cards in different orders - each card will bring up a different set of cards that the trader is willing to offer. If you don't see one you like, remove all the cards and start with a new one to get new combinations. You'll get different magnus offered for one, two, and three card variations, so just keep trying different combinations or cancel. I've had better luck begging than adding another card if I wanted a different one than that offered; threatening tends to break the deal if you change your mind. My favorite trading partner is Garm in Gemma Village; for whatever reason, I had the best luck with him. Just remember that trading sometimes requires a good deal of patience.

Following is a list of traders:

Garm - old man in right house in Gemma Village
Farina - maid in Rodolfo's Mansion
Inca Rose - girl standing near orphanage in Sheratan
Krishna - man in Baelheit's Library
Altrithr - man doing push-ups in Elnath Castle
Lalune - girl in Vega
Chabb - Mintaka (on roof of house where lady can't sleep)

Coupons: Magnus Pack Coupons are fabulous; they allow you to find a few items that can't be found elsewhere. Just take care and use them wisely. As far as I can tell, coupons are redeemed in set ways. One coupon at a particular shop will always get the same ten cards; two coupons will get a different but equally fixed set, etc. Only use them to fill holes in your deck that you can't fill otherwise just in case you need lots of them late in your magnus gathering. If you have to use several to get a specific item, use the other cards that you didn't necessarily need for trade. If an item lists "Coupon" to receive, just give them coupons until you get it.

2.2 Major update about coupons:

Markinct has been doing some work on this and has figured out how the coupons work. They work on a LIFO (Last In, First Out) pattern. He tried to explain it to me, but I don't understand it like he does, so I'm just going to give you the info from him word for word. He'll make much more sense on the subject than I. If you have any questions about the LIFO system, you can email him at MFEforever@aol.com. Thanks again, Mark!

"Okay LIFO or stacking of items, is just like trays in the lunch room. If you place the trays on the stack of trays, one tray at a time, the first tray taken from the stack would be the last tray placed on it. Of course, the first tray placed on the stack would be the last one ever taken from it. Hence, LIFO, Last In First Out. Stack behavior is very interesting because if you were to place 10 trays on the stack, then five were removed, then eight more were added, finally all 13 trays were removed, your pattern of tray removal would be as follows:

10, 09, 08, 07, 06, 18, 17, 16, 15, 14, 13, 12, 11, 05, 04, 03, 02, 01

The enumeration for each tray is based on the order in which it was added to the stack (i.e., 01 for first tray on and 18 for last tray on)

The following stackshots illustrate the state of the stack after each sequence described above:

Initial Stackshot	Second Stackshot	Third Stackshot	Final
10	05	18	empty
09	04	17
08	03	16
07	02	15
06	01	14
05		13
04		12
03		11
02		05
01		04
		03
		02
		01

End stack lesson ;-)

How this works in BKO...

Individual coupons redeemed on an island (each town on an island offers the same redemption) at a specific time will yield the exact same set of magnus. The easiest way to prove this is to start from a save point and redeem a few coupons and note the magnus sets received for each. Restart from the save point and redeem the coupons again and see that you receive the exact same magnus sets, in the same order. Save the notes of magnus sets. FYI, tracking purposes if I had 15 coupons and redeemed three sets, I would enumerate the sets by the coupon number in my stack (i.e., 15, 14, 13 in order.) If you do this test on an island with multiple shops where coupons can be redeemed, feel free to restart from the save and try the other town. The only islands that come to mind with multiple shops that redeem coupons are Alford and Duhr. After completing these tests, restart from your save point, then find/buy another coupon(s). After saving head to the nearest shop and try redeeming however many coupons you did the first time plus the number you just acquired. We can make no accurate prediction of the contents of the magnus sets for the number of coupons you just acquired; however, once back to the coupons you originally redeemed the sets should be the same.

From my example above, let's say I buy two more and now have 17 coupons. I would redeem five and enumerate the sets received as 17, 16, 15, 14, and 13. Again, we have no idea what sets 17 and 16 would contain, but sets 15-13 should be identical to what was received when those coupons were first redeemed.

NOTE: If the story progresses, the magnus sets will change. So I would suggest buying the coupons and doing any testing without advancing the story."

Continued from markinct: "One thing I forgot to mention is if you need several items from different towns, start from a save point, use many coupons, and again note what set(s) you get the item you need from in that town. Restart from the save, move to another town and repeat the process.

Once you have the set number from each town, take a look and plan your course of action to use the fewest coupons, get the best extra stuff, or both.

For example you have ten coupons and need three items (A, B and C) from three towns (1, 2, and 3.) Restarting from this save point you use all ten coupons in each town finding the following:

Item A	Town 1	Coupon	03, 05, 08
Item B	Town 1	Coupon	05, 07
Item B	Town 2	Coupon	04, 08
Item C	Town 3	Coupon	04 (twice), 10

Assuming you only need one of each item, I would go to the town with the highest quality over all items (Vega) and use my first three coupons, then to town 3 to use coupon 04 for item C, and finally to town 1 to use coupon 05 for items A and B."

Phew! You see why I let him explain it. :) Most of the coupon entries are probably okay, but if something doesn't show up that I mentioned, this is why.

Field Guide Prizes: Speak to the doctor in Sheratan to receive the Field Guide. As you fill it up, go see him from time to time for prizes.

Sedna Prizes: As you rebuild Sedna, Maia will give you prizes.

Mintaka Shop: Just a note about the Mintaka Shop. The items here change over time. I wasn't paying close enough attention to be able to tell you when and how often the items change, but I know there are at least three different sets of items available here, probably more, so check back here frequently for new equipment. I haven't noticed the items changing as much in other shops. I honestly don't know what determines Mintaka's changes.

Shops: I haven't listed every item from every shop since those are easy to find. I do list items that I haven't found elsewhere or that you may need more than one of.

Drop Items: Getting drop items can take a long while, but you'll need them anyway if you intend to fill out your field guide. The quest magnus Treasure Lowdown improves your chances of receiving drop items. I can't say with absolute certainty, but these seem to stack. At least, the more of them I carry, the more often enemies seem to drop things.

Drop 2.0 Update: I'm convinced now that Treasure Lowdowns stack though the effect seems to max out around five or six. In other words, having five in inventory will help as much as having a dozen. More importantly, I've discovered that if you need an item from a particular enemy in a group, kill that enemy last. My last entry in the field guide was for Vodnik's item. I had received forty-five (yes, 45!) Swords of Tears from the Mites that show up with Vodnik. I assumed it was because there were two Mite to the one Vodnik. I was getting discouraged (to put it mildly) when I decided to leave the Vodnik until last. I tried this three times...and got three Whitecap Shields in a row. This is either a huge coincidence or a good thing to know if you need drop items.

Organization: I have listed the magnus in the same order that they appear in the Magnus Gathering section of the menu. It's hard to look for something if you don't know what you're missing; with this organization, you should be able to pinpoint the empty slots in your list. If your magnus listing doesn't seem to be in the same order as this one, use the Y button to rearrange your magnus by Type; that will put us on the same page.

Use Control + F to find:

1. Sagi's Weapons [SWS]
2. Milly's Weapons [MWS]
3. Guillo's Weapons [GWS]
4. Sagi's Armor [SAS]
5. Milly's Armor [MAS]
6. Guillo's Armor [GAS]
7. Helmets [HLMS]
8. Shields [SHDS]
9. Accessories & Items [AAIS]
10. Quest Magnus [QUM]
11. Sedna Magnus [SEDM]

Pac-Man: At present, I have 145 out of the 147 I need; I'm stuck at the moment. Just feed it magnus all the time. Try to keep a list so you'll know what you're lacking. Visit Quzman to be told the count; he'll give you gifts once and again.

Abbreviations: UG = Upgrade; SQ = Sidequest

Thanks: Before we get started, I owe several people at the BKO board here at Gamefaqs my thanks. Thanks to Byrgg for his great upgrading faq which told me how to find Excalibur and Mother Superior's Habit. Thanks to _Zero for posting a mixing list (which helped a lot!) and to Soapman for his Quest Magnus faq which help me fill in some holes in my list. Thanks to DrWobbler for posting the prize for the Pacman quest. Thanks to broodwars, Crystalorbie, Namelocs, twistedsword, funky bob, and all the other great gamers at the board who answered all my questions. Special thanks to Celsius for all the help he gave me. More special thanks to markinct for checking over the faq for me to help me fix mistakes. Thanks, everyone!

Version 1.1: Added several drop items and Tarot Card; straightened it up a bit to make it easier to read.

Version 1.5: Fixed some errors (thanks again, markinct!) and added items from Tarazed. Found Chabb in Mintaka.

Version 2.0: Finally! Got those last five magnus. Hooray! Unless something major comes up that I don't know about, this will probably be my last update.
