1.0 - INTRODUCTION

This is my seventh game guide!

This is the third installment in our beloved Final Fantasy Series. Sadly, it was never released in English :(There are rumors it will be released in the PS One or GBA, but proof is yet to be shown.

Anyway, this FF introduced a better "Job System" as compared to the first FF and gave the first use of the ever famous "Summon" spell. Of all FF, I think this game has the the hardest dungeons... dungeons where you are required to be in "Mini" status and dungeons where there are multiplying enemies that are not affected much by normal attacks.

We'll concentrate on the improved "Job System" this game offered us. For those who are lucky to get a hold of this game, I will help you decide which job to use. There are 22 jobs throughout the game. Each have their own distinct character... but not all of them are useful... in the end, you're still the one to decide.

This time I tried to be as objective as possible, but sometimes I can't help to give my own personal view. Anyway, not only do we dive into my personal evaluation in this version, but I also included a detailed and comprehensive stat gain chart (courtesy of the great FF3 guru, Sir Bahamut). With that in mind, let's mosey!

Happy gaming!

2.0 - JOB EVALUATION

- Description - a short description of the jobs (just like the ones in FF Tactics).
- Specialty - just listed the special abilities and specialties of a particular job.
- Usefulness: - I put my idea on which job is most useful until newer and more powerful jobs become available.
- Evaluation - this is where I will put my overall assessment of the job.
- Stat Preview - describes the three basic stats of the jobs. I divided the preview on different level ranges because the stat gain trend is not constant. A job may have a bad stat gain at the start, but insanely improves at some point. I made the preview in a wholistic approach.
- Stat Growth - stats a NOT transferable from one job to another :(If you get a Black Mage to level 10 and switch him to a Fighter- the Fighter will have the stats of a level 10 Fighter, not of a Black Mage. Stats are set for each job. The only transferable stat is the HP you gain from previous jobs. This part lists the stat growth set by the game for each job for each level they gain.

Rating - MY overall impression on the usefulness of the job.

2.1.02 - FIGHTER

Description : Training day and night to become useful warriors, they really know how to swing a sword and use the basic bow.

Specialty : ---

Usefulness : I recommend this as one of your starting job. Balanced offense and defense is very good for newcomers.

Evaluation : Able to equip good armor while dealing good damage. This pre-Knight job is a very good starting job. It can stand alone for a while without support because it can wear pretty good armors. Dealing damage is no problem as well. They can use most of the swords in the game. Don't equip a shield. Give him 2-swords to boost his offense. Balanced job in any way. Heh, this is one of my starting jobs in FF and FF5 ... see? They're reliable indeed!

 2.1.03 - MONK/BLACK BELT

Description : Proficient at bare-hand fighting, they train their bodies in the ways of martial arts.

Specialty : Bare-hand fighting.

Usefulness : Another good starting job, but basically for the offensive-type of gamers. Great in offense and is very cheap to maintain... just

 2.1.04 - HUNTER/ARCHER

Description : With super human eyesight, they know how to use the bow well.
 They can also use up to Levels 1-3 White Magic, except Aero.

Specialty : ---

Usefulness : Useful at the start when you take the dungeon with many undead enemies (Holy Arrows). Not really useful after that part.

Evaluation : I never really used this job that long. If you want to be able to use healing magic, but still want to deal considerable damage, I think, you may consider this. You may use them as an alternate White Wizard for a while. They can use magic arrows, but... magic arrows are quite expensive to maintain! It has a good HP growth and its speed is the best until later in the game. However, they are not as good to offense compared to the other warriors. BTW, who could ever thought that this guy can use the ever famous Flame Mail for the Fighter/Knight job?

Rating : 2

2.1.05 - KNIGHT

Description : Valiant and honorable, they are physically and spiritually disciplined in the art of fighting to protect the oppressed.

Specialty : Cover - takes the physical damage for allies with critical in HP.

Usefulness : A party with a Fighter in its ranks should immediately change for this job once you get it. Very reliable even later in the game.

Evaluation : Good damage dealer as well as damage absorber. A combination of good offense and defense. It has the capability to equip the best weapons in the game, but the Masamune. The great HP progression and ability to equip the Crystal Armor, will guaranty that he can stand alone for a long time! Like the Fighter, it is a balanced combination of Offense and Defense plus, it has good speed. For those who got the Fighter job, be sure to change to this job as soon as you get it. It's not only better, but also looks cooler. Cover is essentially useful when you have your White Wizard in a critical status.

2.1.07 - DRAGOON/LANCER

Description : Imitating flying dragons, this warrior can jump high into the sky and attack its enemies despite their heavy equipments.

Specialty : Jump - jumps on the air to deal 2x damage. Safe from enemy attacks while on air. Very useful for some tough boss.

Usefulness : It's best used as a boss killer. It will definitely make hard bosses easy. I also find it very useful when traversing dungeons with multiplying (splitting) enemies (if you don't want to spend some MP) while waiting for the Mystic Knight's 'Dark Swords'. For regular dungeons, use the Karateka.

Evaluation : One of my most favorite job! It's like getting the Knight, but able to "Jump". Good combination of offense and quickness. It can even use the Crystal Equipments. Despite its heavy equips, this guy is one of the fastest jobs at later levels. Very useful in some tough enemies, especially in dungeons with multiplying enemies ... while waiting for the Mystic Knight. Many boss are not so easy, but a Dragoon can make that battle as easy as possible. Hey! I defeated FF3 & FF5's Bahamut with a purely Dragoon party!!! See? Even the "King of Dragons" bows down before this job? They are pretty quick for a heavy-armored warrior. My only criticism is that why is his HP progression cannot go on par with that of a Knight? It is great up to the later half of the level ladder, but becomes less useful as it reaches the highest level when compared to the other warriors in its batch. Anyway, my flying Knight is still a force to reckon with.

2.1.09 - KARATEKA/GRAND MASTER/MASTER KARATE

Description : Marial arts expert who has diciplined their body and soul. They are ready to get toe-to-toe even with the most powerful beings there is.

Specialty : BuildUp - increases physical attack up to 4x if used twice. Use it the third time and you'll be losing half of your HP. Sronger when bare-handed Usefulness : If you happen to still using the Monk at this point in time, you better change now. Unless you're using the Ninja or a FEOK, it this is the best physical offensive job you can use. Like the Monk, it's very cheap to maintain.

Evaluation : A far better Monk. Now, use "BuildUp" to deal double damage! Use it again to deal 4x damage! Use once more and you'll be "over-loaded" - lose HP and your buildup power will reset to 0. Cast 'Haste' on him and see him thrive! Don't be "too happy", though, "BuildUp" consumes a turn and will make you vitality 0... as if you are trying to flee from battles... while charging up. As usual... no better armor for you. Claws are useless and a waste of gil. Fight bare-handed. Its great Strength, great Vitality, great Attack Power, great Physical Defense and great HP growth is almost uncomparable. Definitely, it's one of the best job! As soon as you get this, change your Monk quickly! It's better in any aspect.

2.1.10 - MYSTIC KNIGHT/PALADIN

Description : Overcoming their fear of darkness, this knight uses the weapons of darkness against the evil forces.

Specialty : Effective vs multiplying (splitting) enemies

Usefulness : Worthless when you first get it. The only REAL reason, as far as I'm concerned, to use this job is when you're going through the dungeons where the annoying multiplying enemies appear. Its 'Dark Swords' are the ONLY truly effective weapons against such pests.

Evaluation : The best job to use when taking dungeons with multiplying enemies. Oh, BTW, it can only use the Crystal Armors found in the later dungeons :(and the ever cool Genji Equipments :) It can use all the best weapons, but Excalibur. However, Dark Swords are where their real use comes from. Using such weapons, you can get past the dungeons with splitting enemies without problem. They can also use Levels 1-3 white magic, except Aero, like the Hunter. In short, they are pretty reliable. Their low HP growth will make you think twice whether to choose other warriors like the Knight, Dragoon or

2.2 - Mage Type

2.2.01 - WHITE WIZARD/WHITE MAGE

Description : Controls holy magic to protect the weak and defeat the darkness.
Specialty : Healing.

Usefulness : Definitely have one in your party. It's the best healer until you obtain the Shaman and Sage.

Evaluation : Your basic healer. Essential throughout the game until you get the Shaman. In battles, it's main offensive use is casting "Haste", which is very essential in winning boss battles, on your warriors. Of all starting mages, the White Mage has the best HP progression... only a little higher than the others, though. What else can I say? You're going to have them for a pretty long time, so you have to love them.

 2.2.02 - BLACK WIZARD/BLACK MAGE

Description : Controls the power of elements not to cause destruction, but to defeat the ends of evil.

Specialty : Weakening enemies.

Usefulness : Its status spells can be pretty useful, but not really needed to survive the earlier part of the game. I recommend to use this slot to add another warrior-type character.

Evaluation : Not to useful, but I still prefer it over the Red Wizard. The status attacks are quite helpful and are almost always 100% in effectiveness. Use it to weaken a large group of enemies. Later in the game, this mage becomes almost useless as more powerful ones become available.

Description : Gifted to use both White and Black Magic, however, they failed to master either arts.

Specialty : White and Black Wizard in 1

Usefulness : If you honestly want to use this job, limit it to the earliest part of the game, especially the dungeon with many dead monsters (equip W. Slayer Sword). After that, they're not really worth it if you notice the pace of story progress.

Evaluation : Mage who can use magic swords, helm and shields. Although very versatile, I never really used it that much. They are pretty useful warriors early on, but becomes useless as the game goes forward. They can use both white and black magic, but come on! Who would want to use Cure 2 when your White Wizard can use Cure 3 already? Even in other FF's, I did not really liked this job that much... (many will surely disagree).

Rating : 2

2.2.04 - SCHOLAR

Description : Thru extensive research, they obtain a great knowledge of all things. They use their wide knowledge to determine how to effectively defeat an enemy.

Specialty : Peep - looks at enemy's current HP
Scan - looks at enemy's weakness

Usefulness : Avoid this at all cost!

Evaluation : Books! Books! Books! I love books, but I don't love this pathetic nerd. Unexpectedly, this guy has the best Intelligence growth of all pre-Warlock mages. 'Scan' is useful against a certain "WallChange"-using enemies, ONLY... but I never really used it. Instead of wasting your turn to scan the enemies' weakness, might as well use the turn to deal additional damage. Whooo! This guy has a TERRIBLE HP gain! Definitely, a waste of slot in your party.

 2.2.05 - GEOMANCER/ELEMENTALIST/TAOIST

Description : Combatants who knows how to use the geography and topography of the earth as a weapon.

Specialty : Terrain - uses the nature as weapon. Effects vary in the area where you are.

Usefulness : If you're still using the Black Wizard and you ran out of MP, you can still use "spells without MP" using its 'Terrain' ability... the effects depends on the location of the battle, though.

Evaluation : I don't see any reason to use this job. Compared to FFV and FF Tactics' Geomancer, this seems to be not the Geomancer we now know. 'Terrain' is not really that useful. Its bells don't work wonders either... that's why I put it in the mage class. Mage-like stat progression, weak weapons and armors, and weak physique are reasons to avoid this job, although, its free spells are quite useful for those who want to have a regular mage in their party without minding their MP consumption.

Rating : 2

Description : Proving to be worthy of the powers of the legendary monsters, they can call upon said beings to utilize its random white or black ability.

Specialty : Summon's White/Black Ability

Usefulness : Use it if you're terribly addict with summon monsters. Usefulness depends on luck... might as well dump this mage in the trash site.

Evaluation : If you want a Red Mage with a twist, get this... but I never really loved Red Wizards... so as Conjurers... if not for my interest in Summons. Their summons are random... unpredictable.
However, some summon effect are quite useful like that of Ramuh
Shiva and Leviathan's white ability... (check the Miscellaneous).
Terrible HP progression and limited MP kills the usefulness of this job! Oh, even its speed sucks! For a good note, don't you think conjurers looks like Hunters than Summoners-in-training?

 2.2.07 - BARD

Description : Talented singers who can use their great voices as a weapon.

Specialty : Scare - makes enemies miss attack or run away.
 Cheer - increases party's number of hits. Can be used as many times as you want... effect will be like 'Haste'.

Usefulness : 'Cheer' is all you should do if you want to use this job... NEVER EVER attempt to use the 'Fight' command!

Evaluation : Offense enhancer at best... and item user at times. 'Scare' is not really that useful. On the other hand, 'Cheer' will give you a little advantage over the enemies especially when your warriors skill level is a little low. In a long battle, the continuous use of 'Cheer' will result in a haste effect. Unlike FF4's legendary Bard, Edward, (Oh... I still can't forget the horror that pathetic character gave me!) this one gave a little justice for the job. Although it has no other use than to 'Cheer' the party, its great HP growth and decent speed makes it more dependable than the rest of the mages before it (except against the White Wizard). I'm just wondering what happend to Edward... o_?

 2.2.08 - SHAMAN

Description : Masters of holy magic. They use their powers to purify the world from dark forces.

Specialty : All-around support.

Usefulness : At last! You can now say farewell to your trusty White Wizard. Until you get the Sage, don't give up this rabbit costume. Very good job.

Evaluation : Far better White Wizard... plus it's cute rabbit costume is worth using! If you don't have the Sage, you may calmly settle with this one. They are as reliable as the Sages when it comes to healing. It also becomes a useful warrior once you get the "Golem" Staff, which has a petrifying effect... instant kill!

 2.2.09 - WARLOCK

Description : Masters of elements. They use their devastating powers to cause havoc to those who cause danger to the world.

Specialty : Enough MP to cast spells.

Usefulness : Great for dungeon-crawling. The status spells are definitely a reason enough to use it, especially in the final dungeons.

Evaluation : Far better Black Wizard. Now it can use Death, Flare and Meteo. It's very useful now. The best thing that you may consider is its 'Death' magic, which can kill any non-boss enemies instantly. That's all... well, not really :) This guy has loads of MP to cast it's spells. When exploring a deep dungeon, you can always depend in its spells for backup. Forget about attacking physically and cast spells like insane! Also, it is good to note that this guy has the best HP growth of all mages. Thanks to its terrific Vitality progression... thought its a Monk!

 2.2.10 - SUMMONER

Description : Able to get the full trust of legendary monsters, they can call upon these monsters and use its full power to aid them in combat.

Specialty : Summon's "Overdrive"

Usefulness : Don't bother using this one unless your level is quite high (at least level 42) because its terrible amount of MP will only frustrate you... seeing 'Bahamut', but you cannot use it :(Nice in dealing with multiple enemies.

Evaluation : FAR BETTER Conjurer. Actually, it's better than the Warlock... as far as I'm concerned. Summons can deal more damage than 'Flare' and 'Meteo'... providing you got the best Summon in the game. They target all enemies so they're pretty useful. This game gave birth to the most anticipated spell in the Final Fantasy World. Whenever there's a new FF game, everyone is wondering who's the new summon? IMHO, the Summoner is the best offensive mage there is... unfortunately, you don't have that much MP to call your favorite monster for help :(In fact, you'll have a taste of summoning 'Bahamut' not before level 42 when it gets 1 level 8 MP! Anyway, you may not use Summoners as a final party member, but be sure to have, at least, its 'Bahamut' spell in your pocket. Agility has never been a strength of a mage after this game! Unexpectedly, it even ranks as one of the fastest job throughout the game.

 2.2.11 - SAGE

Description : The supreme spell caster! Mastered all the holy, elemental and summon magic to aid those in need.

Specialty : Warlock, Shaman and Summoner in 1!

Usefulness : Don't think twice! Use this one for your all-around magic needs.

Evaluation : No mage in the Final Fantasy World can match the power of this one. It's like FF X's Yuna with max Spere Grid! Change ALL your mages once you get this. It has the best of all mages... even more effective than the Shaman, Warlock and Summoner and they have loads of MP to cast the spells with mindless consideration, more than the 3 lower lifeforms, especially for the lower level spells. Cast! Cast! Cast!

IN-DEPTH EVALUATION

To settle this question, we have to distinguish your style of playing. Are you a level up maniac or one who loves challenges- limiting their level as low as possible?

In general, the usefulness of the Warlock is really outstanding at lower levels. At higher levels, the Summoner takes the center stage... if I may say.

Looking at their stats, highlighting their MP (because they're spell casters), the Warlock is really running past the Summoner by a mile. At level 42 where the Summoner earns its first level 8 MP (for 'Bahamut'), the Warlock already owns 8 level 8 MP's!

Okay, let's assume you're a challenge freak and your level is at most, say 39, when you got the subject jobs. You'll have the following stats:

Lvl	Str	Agi	Vit	Int	Spr	At#	Att	Ht%	De#	Def	Eva	Mdf	MEv	M1	M2	M3	M4	M5	M6	M7	M8
39	16	39	44	57	23	10	10	89	2	22	9	0	40	28/26/23/20/17/14/10/07								Warlock
39	42	47	13	39	39	10	22	91	2	6	11	0	39	17/15/12/10/07/05/03/00								Summoner

The most worthy spells start at level 5, so here's what your bets have below their sleeves:

Warlock	Summoner
M5 - Kill, Bolt3, Erase - 17	M5 - Titan - 7
M6 - Bio, Fire3, Warp - 14	M6 - Odin - 5
M7 - Break2, Drain, Quake - 10	M7 - Leviathan - 3
M8 - Flare, Meteo, Death - 7	M8 - Bahamut - 0

Since most of the bosses in the final dungeons are strong against elements, most probably you'll be using 'Bio' for the Warlock and 'Odin' for the Summoner. The damage dealt by 'Odin' is only a few hundreds higher than 'Bio'. Let's say 'Odin' deals 1000 damage times 5 casting (1000x5), you'll be dealing only 5000 damage to the boss. On the other side, if you use the Warlock and casts 'Bio', which deals, let's say 500 times 14 casting (500x14), you'll be dealing 7000 damage. Of course the damages are just hypothetical, but did you see my point? In terms of fighting regular battles, the Warlock compensates the lack of powerful, all-target spells with its status spells. Weaken the enemies before killing them, instead of instantly killing them with powerful spells. Definitely, if you want to use the Summoner, you have to learn to stretch your chord and save your MP unless extremely needed.

Now, let's say you're quite a level up maniac and you got the subject jobs at level 49. Here's their stats:

Lvl	Str	Agi	Vit	Int	Spr	At#	Att	Ht%	De#	Def	Eva	Mdf	MEv	M1	M2	M3	M4	M5	M6	M7	M8
49	17	45	53	64	27	12	10	91	2	26	11	0	45	32/30/27/24/21/18/15/12								Warlock
49	47	56	15	45	45	14	24	94	3	7	14	0	45	19/17/15/12/10/08/06/04								Summoner

Warlock	Summoner
M5 - Kill, Bolt3, Erase - 21	M5 - Titan - 10
M6 - Bio, Fire3, Warp - 18	M6 - Odin - 8
M7 - Break2, Drain, Quake - 15	M7 - Leviathan - 6
M8 - Flare, Meteo, Death - 12	M8 - Bahamut - 4

With the availability of a few 'Bahamut' and 8 'Odin' summons, you'll be taking down bosses with few troubles. There's no need to beat down bosses slowly using either 'Bio', 'Flare' or 'Meteo'. If you ran out of MP after a boss fight, all you have to do is use an Elixir. With regard to regular battles, both jobs will not have any trouble as they both have enough MP to deal with normal pests, however, we cannot hide the fact that the Summoner has a very bad HP progression compared to that of the Warlock. Defense will aggravate the problem of low HP. An unlucky Summoner who becomes a favorite target by the enemies will not be able to hold such onslaught. These might make you think twice when you want to consider using the Summoner. The only consolation I see is the fact that the Summoner is very fast. Before an enemy gets a chance to take him down, it can already kill it with one of its summons in the first turn.

Taking the above considerations, I STILL favor the Summoner. The title "Best Offensive Mage in FF3 World" depends on your style of play. You want a hard-hittin', but short-livin' mage? Summoner's the name. If you want a slowly, but surely spell caster? Warlock's the right guy for you. Well, I always believe that, " a good defense is a good offense", but I also believe that, " a great offense is the best offense!".

For me, it doesn't really matter which is better. I never really used either jobs that long. I'm content with my 2x Mystic Knight (1x Knight and 1x Karateka) and 2x White Mage (Shaman) combo before I get my 2x Ninja (FEOK) and 2x Sage combo. One thing I can say is that, you may say Warlock is better than the Summoner, but Summon is better than Black Magic :)

Now, MAKE YOUR CHOICE!

5.0 - VERSION HISTORY

My favorite way of customization in the Final Fantasy Series is the 'Materia System', but the 'Job System' has a very special place in my heart. Not only in Final Fantasy, but also in other RPG's, 'Job System' has made the game more interesting. I would want to have a guide regarding the "jobs", but the games like FF5 and FF Tactics have them already. Ha, ha! They missed FF3's! I think it was really meant for me :)
