This game was released back in Japan back in 1989, the year I was born. Playing it now in 2008, I can safely say it isn't a horrible game. Sure some of the team names are silly and don't make any sense but that doesn't take too much away from this game. The gameplay is actually pretty good for being from that time era. Coming in, I wasn't holding high expectations but I can safely say this game surpassed them greatly.

3. Overview

This is a pretty straightforward football game. You start off with the coin toss and then you choose plays on offense and defense to try and score more than the opponent. However, there are no quarters and there's no true running play. You have to do a little dump off pass for it to be a run. The games only last 5, 10, or 15 minutes and there's only 6 teams. In the next section I'm going to put the rosters of each team and a strategy for facing them.

=====
Strategies

Note: The strategy is the same against all teams.

For defense I always use the 6-2-3 formation because they like to pack the line with a Tight I formation. Then I usually pick man-to-man or blitz based on what play they used. If they do an option play then I pick man-to-man but anything else I use blitz for. You don't really need to use 2-deep or 3-deep because they don't usually throw it deep. Personally for me the hardest part is the offense. I would just try to throw short passes and try not to go long a lot of the time. A lot of drives end up as field goals because I find that it's too hard to score a touchdown unless you have an interception and start in the red zone.
