* * * * * 2. The Training Hall * * * * *

After defeating the monsters, the sharp-nailed Chinese phantoms which are known as "Kyonshies", in houses and buildings, you can get one or more scrolls. You use these scrolls to learn skills in the Training Hall, but you can't see the master for free, as his guard explains to you. To prove you are worthy of the master's time and attention, you must correctly answer a question with one of three multiple choices. While many of the guard's questions pertain to your foes the Kyonshies, some of the questions involve trivia. If you get a question wrong, DON'T FRET! You can re-enter and try again with another question.

The guard tells you, Kenchi: "You can't see the master for free. Do you understand?"
If you answer no, he'll laugh at your cowardice and kick you out. Answer yes, and it's quiz time!

----- CORRECT MESSAGES:

- That's good. The master is waiting for you. Go and see him.

If you answer "New Jersey" or "Beverly Hill" to the question about where Kyonshies usually live in:

- That's right. Now as you know, that is the hangout of Kyonshi. Go and enter.

(I'm assuming the guard pities you so much that he just accepts it as a correct answer. :P )

----- INCORRECT MESSAGES:

- Why are you trying to pretend you don't know the answer?

- You, Kenchi, not know a thing like this? Worth a laugh! Ha ha ha!
Now, get out! Get out!

- That was a pity. Train yourself and come again.

- How little you know I'm stunned. Think it over and come back again.

- Kenchi, you are really an idiot! Go home, try to learn more, and come back when you are wiser.

If you answer "5" as to how many stars are on the US flag:

- Duncel!
