About this Guide

This is a guide that explains the mechanics behind obtaining opponent equipment following combat in Dissidia: Final Fantasy. For convenient reference, an index of equipment attributes related to acquirement is provided.

The sections of this guide may be searched by listing the full numeral-alphabet address in brackets, as such:

[IV.v.B] = Rank B Thief

This guide assumes that the reader has cleared the game at least once and possesses some basic understanding of Japanese -- specifically, experience with Dissidia game terminology. It also happens to be a lot easier to obtain equipment if your character is at level 100.

Several sections of this guide use English names for the various pieces of equipment they mention. To view the original Japanese names, search for the English names in the Acquire Attributes Index. Alternatively, searching for Japanese names also gives English equivalents.

Note that this guide doesn't currently document the combat-related attributes and properties of most equipment. This is intended purely as supplementary material to the other general walkthroughs or item listings that you'll find.

Responses on IGN have noted that this guide would be more useful if I provided a full item combat attributes index along with what I already have here. This content will be included in version 0.9.

This guide can be freely redistributed as long as its contents aren't modified. Please credit Fallacies for authorship.

Version History

02/04/2009 - ver. 0.1 - 1st draft

02/17/2009 - ver. 0.8 - 1st submission edition to IGN

Future versions may include documentation of Inward Chaos and the Duel Coliseum, if requested.

The translations used in this guide will be reconciled with the official English renderings of equipment names once the North American Edition is released.

[I] Item Drop Mechanics

Two equations are used by Dissidia to calculate the basic drop rate of an item you see equipped on an opponent in the game. These rates differ based on your current equipment.

Several variables appear in the equations:

LUK: Your character's luck value.
RDL: The requisite drop luck of the target item.
DRP: The drop constant of the target item.
BDR: Basic drop probability.

RDL and DRP are equipment attributes recorded in the Acquire Attributes Index at the end of this guide. Your character's LUK is displayed in your game menu.

The equations are as follows:

```
If LUK < RDL ,
    then 0.2 + ( DRP - 0.2 ) / RDL * LUK = BDR%

If LUK > RDL ,
    then DRP + ( LUK - RDL ) * 0.7 = BDR%

All output BDRs that exceed 5% automatically default to 5%. This means that even if the result of the equation is 28.5%, your actual BDR is still only 5%.

[I.i] Minimum Drop Probability

If your character's LUK is lower than an item's RDL, no real range of output drop rates exists.

To illustrate, the rarest weapons in Dissidia all share the same DRP and RDL -- 0.25 and 60, respectively. Assuming your LUK is 50, you trigger the following output:

```
0.2 + ( 0.25 - 0.2 ) / 50 * 60 = BDR%
0.20001666... = BDR%
```

So, you have a BDR of about 0.2%.

Suppose, on the other hand, that you want a lower class weapon with a DRP of 2 and RDL of 14. If your LUK is 10, the following output results:

```
0.2 + ( 2 - 0.2 ) / 10 * 14 = BDR%
0.21428571... = BDR%

0.2% drop, yet again.

You can try plugging in as many variables as you like, but the bottom line is, if your LUK is lower than the RDL, your minimum BDR is going to float at about 0.2%.

[I.ii] LUK Cap for Item Drop

Since maximum BDR is 5%, there is a limit to the influence of LUK on your drop rate. Assuming again the worst possible item drop conditions (DRP 0.25, RDL 60), the LUK required to max out the second equation is as follows:

$$0.25 + (\text{LUK} - 60) * 0.7 = 5\%$$
$$\text{LUK} = 66.78571429$$

The highest effective LUK value for item drop is therefore 67, which is only 7 more than the base level of LUK at level 100 -- 60. If your character has a LUK value of higher than 67, it's completely meaningless where item drop is concerned. At this LUK value, you have a guaranteed drop rate of at least 5%.

[I.iii] Drop Probability Modifiers

Certain combat conditions may result in modifications to the BDR%. They are listed below:

modifier	condition
<hr/>
+2%	Online Combat
+1%	Special Day Bonus
	[Drop % Up]
.5%	Purchase of PP Catalog Item
	[Drop % Up] (see note #1)
-1%	Opponent Rank = F
-2%	Opponent Rank = G
-5%	Opponent Rank = H

The first three conditions are self-explanatory. Opponent Rank affects battles where a Friendcard is involved -- offline network play versus Ghosts, primarily. Incidentally, Rank H is the lowest that I've personally seen. It's attainable if you have a long enough losing streak.

#1: Drop % Up = アイテムドロップ確率アップ

[II] Accessory Rise Mechanics

Two equations are used by Dissidia to calculate the basic rise rate of an accessory you see on an opponent in the game. These rates differ based on your current equipment.

Several variables appear in the equations:

LUK: Your character's luck value.

RRL: The requisite rise luck of the target accessory.

RIS: The rise constant of the target accessory.

BRR: Basic rise probability.

RRL and RIS are equipment attributes. A record of these values is provided in the Acquire Attributes Index at the end of this guide. Your character's LUK is displayed in your game menu.

The equations are as follows:

```
If LUK < RRL ,
    then RIS / RRL * LUK = BRR%
```

```
If LUK > RRL ,
    then RIS + 0.1 * ( LUK - RRL )^2 = BRR%

All output BRRs that exceed 20% automatically default to 20%. This means that even if the result of the equation is 28.5%, your actual BRR is still only 20%. There is no minimum accessory rise probability.

In Story Mode, Quick Battle, and the Duel Coliseum, only accessories named in section [VI.iii.D.b] Battle-Rise may be obtained during combat.

Other non-Battle-Rise accessories may only be obtained in Online Combat after purchasing the PP Catalog items "Obtain Battle-Rise in Online Combat" (see note #2) and "Obtain Battle-Rise from Ghosts" (see note #3).

#2: Obtain Battle-Rise in Online Combat = オンライン対戦でバトルライズ

#3: Obtain Battle-Rise from Ghosts = ゴースト対戦でバトルライズ

[II.i] LUK Cap for Battle Rise

Since maximum BRR is 20%, there is a limit to influence of LUK on your accessory rise rate. Assuming the worst possible accessory rise conditions (RIS 0.1, RRL 69), the LUK required to max out the second equation is as follows:

$$0.1 + 0.1 * (LUK - 69)^2 = 20\%
LUK = 83.1067359\dots$$

The highest effective LUK value for accessory rise is therefore 84, which guarantees a rise probability of at least 20%. Any LUK value greater than 84 is completely meaningless.

LUK modulated accessory rise increase is reflected in the displayed rise probability menu of an opponent before you enter battle.

[II.ii] Rise Probability Modifiers

Certain combat conditions may result in modifications to the BRR%. They are listed below:

modifier	condition
<hr/>
+1%	Special Day Bonus [Rise % Up]
+1%	Purchase of PP Catalog Item [Rise % Up] (see note #4)

Various pieces of equipment may otherwise be used to improve rise probability, but please be aware that equipment-based BRR% modifications cap at +20%. This means that regardless of what you use or equip, the highest theoretically attainable accessory rise probability under the poorest rise conditions is 42%.

#4: Rise % Up = バトルライズ確率アップ

[III] Quick Battle Rank Mechanics

Based on Quick Battle opponent level settings, Dissidia assigns a hidden numeric rank to a generated character:

level	rnk	level	rnk	level	rnk
1 ~ 7	1	36 ~ 42	6	71 ~ 77	11
8 ~ 14	2	43 ~ 49	7	78 ~ 84	12
15 ~ 21	3	50 ~ 56	8	85 ~ 91	13
22 ~ 28	4	57 ~ 63	9	92 ~ 98	14
29 ~ 35	5	64 ~ 70	10	99 ~ 100	15

Specific rank per equipment slot is further modified based on AI type settings:

AI strength	type	weap	hand	head	body
最弱
Weakest	all types	-2	-2	-2	-2
とても弱い
Extremely Weak
弱い:カスタマイズ
Weak: Customize	all types	-1	-1	-1	-1
極端, 猛攻
Extreme, Aggressive		-	-1	-	-1
弱い:アクション
Weak: Action

強い:カスタマイズ
Strong: Customize
とても強い
Extremely Strong	all types	-	-	-	-

最強

Strongest	all types	+1	+1	+1	+1

A level 100 opponent set at "Weak: Action" with type "Extreme" would have a hand and body armor rank of 14, and then a head and weapon rank of 15.

The generated opponent's equipment slots are populated from the pool of items bearing its rank. All items that have a designated rank may be obtained from Quick Battle opponents. See subsection [.ii] below for a list of equipment organized by rank.

Some notes:

- #5: If no matched rank item exists for an equipment slot, the slot may remain empty.
- #6: If the opponent's rank is 0 or lower, it may enter battle with no equipment. The maximum possible rank is 15. All higher values default to 15.
- #7: Slot population for randomly generated opponents ignores minimum equipment level.

[III.i] Native Equippability Table

Opponent characters randomly generated for Quick Battle will only be assigned equipment that their character can natively use without the purchase of equipment abilities from the gil shop. The following table indexes the native equippability patterns of all usable characters.

To clarify, the numbers above the columns represent which Final Fantasy a given character originates from. For example, "Chaos-Side 04" means Golbez. The item class "Tools" is not included in this table, as nobody can natively equip it. Otherwise, everything should be self-explanatory.

Item Rank Table

The following is an index of items organized by rank. Collating this information with that in the tables above, it's possible to roughly determine the equipment pools of automatically generated Quick Battle opponents.

#8: Note that Darkness series equipment is only assigned to Cecil.
 Buster Sword is only assigned to Cloud.
 Revolver is only assigned to Squall.
 Official Ball is only assigned to Tidus.

[IV] Tools of the Trade

Certain pieces of equipment can be used to improve your item drop and accessory rise probabilities. They are listed below. An acquirement and usage advisory is included in subsection [.v] below, but most of this is self-explanatory.

The roman numerals besides the "characters" bullet indicate who can equip these items. The items listed under the numeric price are the loot materials required to synthesize the item.

Thief's Gloves and Thief's Hat are simple enough. Super-Ribbon might require a bit of explanation.

If an accessory has a noted break probability, it means that there's a certain chance that it will be randomly destroyed at the end of combat.

Ribbons are a class of rare head armor with the effect of reducing or eliminating this probability. This is useful, because the Moogle Charm accessory (Item Drop +2%) listed below has a break probability of 30%. Don't want that to shatter ...

Incidentally, though break probabilities of 100% can still be reduced through use of Ribbons, the reduction effect doesn't apply to things that say "Breaks on Activation." Ribbons only work if a probability is explicitly given.

The Sword of Bartz's old man, Dorgann, from Final Fantasy V. If you're using Bartz as your primary thief, this weapon gives him LUK+3, which is useful if for some reason you choose not to use accessories to jack up your LUK.

Don't equip a Moogle Charm without a Super-Ribbon, because it might break.

Dangerous Luck is a "Last Leave" accessory, meaning that after an attack that would normally kill you, it activates and you're left with 1 HP. Unlike other similar accessories, it grants the bonus effect of Item Drop +3% after activating. If you feel like a gambler, try it out. Otherwise, I wouldn't recommend it. "Last Leave" accessories are completely meaningless if your HP never hits 1.

The inclusion of the Fortune Ring here is extremely straightforward: It's the only LUK modifying accessory that you'll ever need for purposes of obtaining an item drop.

Brigadier's Mustache is an upgrade of the Fortune Ring.

Sunrise and Moonrise are "Basic" accessories with the effect of increasing accessory rise probability. Two Sunrises and one Moonrise can be equipped at the same time for a total of Accessory Rise +4%. The effect of "Basic" accessories can be multiplied with use of "Conditional" accessories. The following are recommended:

item name Lv: Lv = 100

Equipping and activating all five "Conditional" accessories listed above applies a multiplier of x5.2 to the numeric effect of any "Basic" accessories equipped. For example, if the character has a Moonrise and two Sunrises equipped along with the listed "Conditionals," the existing accessory rise bonus of +4% becomes +20.8% -- effectively +20% due to the cap. More on this in Usage.

[IV.iii] Combinations

Certain pieces of equipment list a term and a fraction under "effects." If you wear a combination of equipment with the same term, and the fractions add up to 1, they activate a special bonus. You can usually tell which equipment belongs to what combination based on their names, though combination effects are also displayed in your equipment menu.

The equipment listed above is Cloud's crossdressing gear from Final Fantasy VII. Wearing all 4 pieces of the costume grants an effect of "Accessory Rise +2%" and "Item Drop +2%."

Note that I don't actually recommend using this set, as Item Drop +2% can be achieved with half the number of equipment slots. Also, these can only be equipped by the female characters and Cloud and Kefka.

Unrelatedly, Kefka started wearing makeup and women's clothes in Final Fantasy VI after the Magitech treatments started to get to his brain.

The above is the equipment of the Heike, the rival clan of the Genji in the Tale of the Genji. The combination effect of this set is "EX Gauge 100% at Battle Start" and "EX Mode Time -50%." I recommend this for use when hunting an accessory rise, as a large number of rise conditions demand that you hit your opponent with an EX attack.

Artifact items are renameable equipment that occasionally drop after online combat (even if you lose the match); the dropped artifacts are based on whatever your opponent was wearing. After being renamed, they retain the same attributes but gain new effects. One such effect is Item Drop +1%.

The originals of the two artifacts above are the Excalipur and the Rainbow Robe. I chose them because they have strong base attributes.

Bonuses granted by equipped abilities don't affect special or character-specific weapons. This makes the ATK +68 Excalipur easily the base of one of the strongest weapons in the game. (Though there are better effects you can put on it other than Item Drop +1% ...)

[IV.v] Acquirement & Usage

The following are the basic equipment builds of a Dissidian thief. Some rough details on how to obtain the necessary items are provided. Feel free to equip these on any level 100 character. Empty slots may be used as you please.

I suggest using Shantotto, because she has an infinite Aero combo; even if completely naked, Shantotto is still capable of executing this combos on most opponents. Refer to the Shantotto guide on GameFAQs for more details. The following is a video demonstration of the combo:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LQDLyK6ngU4&e>

Please collect the equipment listed below before attempting any other item acquirement. It'll make your life a lot easier. Also, note that Special Day bonuses and the PP Catalog Item Drop consumable can add an additional +1.5% to your Item Drop, or +2% to your Accessory Rise.

[IV.v.A] Rank C Thief

	item name	accessory
weapon	-	Fortune Ring
hand	Thief's Gloves
head	Thief's Hat
body	-

This character has a base LUK 68 and Item Drop +7% -- the weakest of the three thief equipment builds. I have not included any of the rarer and more difficult-to-find items.

Try to obtain the Fortune Ring first, since it allows you to hit LUK 68 without any other equipment -- which, again, guarantees you at least a 5% drop rate.

Collecting the necessary loot for the Fortune Ring requires you to find a Friendcard that possesses a Yellow Gem. Luckily, SQEX has released a password that will grant such a Friendcard, without requiring you to actually use online combat. Simply go to your Friendcard Message menu, and input the following code to obtain it:

FuSoYa SF5AUS5WUJ39Y

Use half-width alphanumeric. Full-width does nothing. Note that I'm not telling you to type FuSoYa's name out.

The other two pieces of loot required for the Fortune Ring can be obtained from beating up a level 100 Bartz on Weakest mode.

Thief's Gloves and Thief's Hat can be obtained from Quick Battle Opponents.

Note that in Quick Battle, if you select the option to retry immediately after a match is concluded, the opponent will be reloaded with the exact same set of items. To get the equipment to reshuffle, select mode top and then reenter battle.

After obtaining the Rank C Thief build, you can start aiming for Rank B.

[IV.v.B] Rank B Thief

	item name	accessory
weapon	-	Fortune Ring
hand	Thief's Gloves	Moogle Charm
head	Super-Ribbon
body	-

This character has LUK 68 and Item Drop +8%.

This build is created for players who have been at thieving game for a little while. It looks as if it's just got an opening advantage over the previous set by +1%, but beggars can't be choosers. Besides, getting that slight advantage is extremely difficult.

The loot required to make the Super-Ribbon includes a whole boatload of rare items, including the Ribbon (which is about as difficult to make), Bahamut Wings (found only in the highest Duel Coliseum), and 99 Transformation Powders. Attempting to make this thing from scratch will have you throwing your PSP out the tallest window you can find.

Fortunately, there's an easier solution: Defeat Siegfried or Ultros, who are included in the game as password-unlockable Friendcards:

```
Siegfried FGR3ET5KKJC
Ultros 8TA9CQQTAC

After obtaining the Friendcards, beat them at your leisure until they drop a Super-Ribbon. Ultros is a Tina player, and Siegfried is a Kefka player.

The Moogle Charm is given to you randomly by Magnet. Awfully nice of them, since there's no other way to obtain it outside of online combat.

[IV.v.C]	Rank A Thief
----------	--------------

	item name	accessory
weapon	Nameless Sword	Fortune Ring
hand	Thief's Gloves	Moogle Charm
head	Super-Ribbon	Dangerous Luck
body	Nameless Robe

This character has LUK 68 and a starting Item Drop of +10%. If hit with an HP attack that should kill him, he survives with 1 HP and his Item Drop becomes +13%.

This build is created for veteran thieves that have clocked a Disgaea-sized amount of time waiting for items to drop.

Anything can be used as an artifact base, but obtaining the the Item Drop +1% effect takes a little effort. An illustration:

Player A has an Excalipur. He fights against Player B via online combat. After concluding a random number of matches, Player B receives a Nameless Sword. In the Artifacts menu, the Nameless Sword has gained 1 history marker. By renaming it, Player B gives it a new effect.

Player B equips the Nameless Sword. After concluding a random number of matches, Player A receives the Nameless Sword. It now has 2 history markers in its Artifact menu. Rinse and repeat.

The process of laundering the Nameless Sword has to continue until it has at least 8 history markers. At that point, the Item Drop +1% effect has a chance of randomly appearing when the sword is renamed. If on renaming, the desired effect doesn't appear, immediately press the PSP Home Button and reload the game. Repeat until you get what you want. The same laundering process has to be applied to the Nameless Robe too

Incidentally, if an item is laundered 50 times, it gains the strongest effects in the game ...

The loot required to make Dangerous Luck can only be unlocked via password:

Ahriman MAPE5REPE4T5
Shantotto 469J3ELEVENWS

Gemini H3CSH3SDA3YUN

Shantotto and Ahriman are Friendcards, containing ghosts of Shantotto and Cloud of Darkness respectively. The Gemini code directly gives you a loot material called, of all things, "Gemini Recipe."

=====

[IV.v.D] EX-Risemaster Gabranth

=====

	item name	accessory
weapon	Heike Blade	Sunrise x2
hand	Heike Shield	Moonrise
head	Heike Helm	Sm: Summon Unused
body	Heike Armor	ACT: BRV Atk Unused Op: BRV < 0 Brigadier's Mustache Fortune Ring Lucky Ring x2

A build for use with level 100 Gabranth, which grants a minimum accessory rise probability of 33.5%, prior to Special Day and PP Catalog bonuses. Note that the highest "stable" rise rate realistically obtainable from equipment is about 37.5%, despite the maximum being 40%. By "stable," I mean obtainable without requiring you to engage in any silliness that makes combat difficult. I've developed this build in particular to exploit Gabranth's unique characteristics -- namely, the EX-Charge ability and his EX Mode attack, "Innocence."

To obtain this equipment set, complete the missions listed in the accessories section above, and clear the XI and XII story mode stages with 5 and 6 Destiny Points each.

The Heike series equipment allows Gabranth to start the battle with a totally full EX Gauge. Equip him with a summon, but don't use it. Also, don't equip him with any brave attacks, because he doesn't need them; his EX attack has the effect of depleting the opponent's Brave without actually counting as a Brave attack.

Gabranth's "Innocence" is an EX Mode HP attack that generates map/background damage. It can be followed up with an EX-Burst attack that obliterates an opponent's Brave, causing the Break status. Because of these properties, I consider it an optimal rise-generating technique.

For clarification, HP and Brave attacks executed during in EX Mode do not satisfy the EX Burst (EX) rise condition -- only following up an EX Mode HP Attack with the square button does. Any attack that damages the battle environment counts toward "Map/Background Damage" (BG), even if they don't actually connect with your opponent.

To maximize chances of "Map/Background Damage" (BG) occurring, please use the non-True "World of Darkness" battle stage (see note #9). Breaking any pillar within this map contributes to BG damage.

To obtain non-EX-related rises, I recommend that you use the accessory build above with an easier-to-use character than Gabranth -- he isn't capable of killing an opponent outside EX Mode, which creates difficulties in conventional combat. Note as well that the Heike combination set is relatively weak in the endgame. If possible, use a stronger item build.

No specific character or item build is particularly superior to the others for purposes of rise, but using Bartz with the Sword of Dorgann allows you to replace one of the Lucky Rings in the accessory build above with a conditional accessory, thereby granting a higher rise rate.

#10: World of Darkness = 閻の世界

[V] Looting & Mark Hunting

This section contains miscellaneous information about opponents that may possess equipment of interest.

[V.i] Friendcards

[V.i.A] Passworded Ghosts

In your Friendcard menu, input the following passwords in half-width alphanumeric. Preset special ghosts will populate your Offline Lobby. A number of them possess character-unique weapons and other rare equipment that can't be found elsewhere. Each of these ghosts possesses one unique loot material and one color gem. Be sure to collect them all, as they are needed to synthesize certain items from the gil shop.

Note that I have not included all of the ghosts' summons here.

A star mark (*) appearing next to a particular item or accessory in this list indicates that the equipment in question may only be obtained by fighting the ghost it's equipped on.

[V.i.B] Stiltzkins

Depending on your interaction with Mognet, you will occasionally receive special Stiltzkin Friendcards. Though the ghosts on these are generally weaker than the passworded ones, some of them possess interesting equipment. Each Stiltzkin possesses a unique color droplet, which are required to synthesize certain items in the gil shop. Be sure to collect them all.

A star mark (*) appearing next to a particular item or accessory in this list indicates that the equipment in question may only be obtained by fighting the ghost it's equipped on.

Stiltzkin, incidentally, is the wandering Mognet postal moogle from Final Fantasy IX. I knew there was more than one of him around ...

[V.ii] The Wisdom of Lufaine

A series of equipment associated with Cid of the Lufaine (FFI) may be obtained from opponents in the Invincible Course of the Duel Coliseum. These opponents are referred to as possessing "Ancient Equipment." The full list of opponents and equipment is as follows:

character	equipment
Warrior of Light	Lufaine Shield
Frioniel	Lufaine Lance
Onion Knight	Lufaine Wakizashi
Cecil Harvey	Lufaine Armor
Bartz Klauser	Lufaine Gloves
Tina Branford	Lufaine Barrette
Cloud Strife	Lufaine Edge
Squall Leonheart	Lufaine Saber
Zidane Tribal	Lufaine Dagger
Tidus	Lufaine Pinwheel
Shantotto	Lufaine Staff
Garland	Lufaine Axe
The Emperor	Lufaine Jacket
Cloud of Darkness	Lufaine Cap
Golbez	Lufaine Vest
Exdeath	Lufaine Rod
Kefka Palazzo	Lufaine Cantabile
Sephiroth	Lufaine Katana
Ultimania	Lufaine Robes
Kuja	Lufaine Bangle
Jecht	Lufaine Hand
Gabranth	Lufaine Helm

All characters in this list are level 90, with AI strength "Strong:
Customize."

If 4 Lufaine items are equipped at the same time, the combination effect "The Wisdom of Lufaine" is obtained, which increases the frequency of EX Core manifestation on the battle map. Not really a very meaningful effect, considering the trouble the game puts you through to obtain it ...

Acquire Attributes Index

This is a complete index of equipment attributes related to acquirement. Refer to the legend below for explanations of various abbreviations and terminology.

Note that the "acquirement" column in the current version of this index does not exhaustively document all methods and information pertaining to the capture of an annotated item. It provides the simplest means of obtaining one of an item, and lists the conditions that must be met before the item can be synthesized in the gil shop. The amount of loot needed for synthesis is provided in an assortment of other guides and item listings, and so it isn't presently covered here.

Items that can be purchased without synthesis are not documented here. They'll appear in your gil shop inventory once any character capable of equipping them reaches their minimal equipment level.

This index assumes that you've already obtained all of the accessories listed in section [VI.iii.D.b] Battle-Rise, and that you're capable of farming them in unlimited quantities. Please do this first. It can easily be achieved by repeatedly fighting all Quick Battle opponents at level 100, weakest AI. Your completion of this particular inventory may be viewed from your Battle-Rise menu.

Please also obtain at least one Transformation Powder, which costs 3 medals at any of the Duel Coliseums; you'll need to farm several hundreds of this item in order to synthesize all of the items in this index. The other items listed in the "key materials" section are used to synthesize the monographs required to purchase non-native item class equipment abilities from the gil shop.

To make farming easier, get a friend with the game to equip items that you want on their ghost.

Certain items must be obtained at least once before duplicates can be synthesized. Typically when this is the case, some other value appears in the equipment's acquirement column above "Loot" or "Base." If no such entry exists, assume that the condition that must be met before synthesis can occur is obtaining 100% of the Battle-Rise inventory and then collecting the items noted in the Loot and Base entries.

Refer to section [V] Looting & Mark Hunting for more information regarding Lufaine items and other rare equipment.

Index Legend

The following is a table of column names that appear in the index, annotated with explanations.

columns explanation for the item index rank The rank at which a randomly regenerated Quick Battle opponent may be assigned a given item.

lv	Minimum equipment level of an item. Provided for purposes of reference.
drp	The drop constant of an item.
rdl	The requisite drop luck of an item.
eqip	The characters who can equip a given item, identified by the Roman numeral of their game of origination. Refer to the values table for other possible entries.
columns	explanation for the accessory index
rank	The equipment rank of an accessory, which determines how many of the same may be equipped at once. Refer to accessory rank table below.
rlv	The opponent level above which an accessory may be more easily obtained.
ris	The rise constant of an accessory.
rrl	The requisite rise luck of an accessory.
rise	The condition that must be triggered in combat in order for a rise to be obtained. Refer to the abbreviations table for possible values.
x	The numerical modifier applied by a conditional accessory on condition trigger. Multiplies the numeric effects of basic accessories.
prefix	Element denoted in the name of a Battle-Rise accessory. Differs based on opponent of origination.
suffix	Loot rank denoted in the name of a Battle-Rise accessory.
coliseums	Originating Duel Coliseum of a given coliseum loot.
medals	Number of medals that must be exchanged to obtain a given coliseum loot.
values	explanation
Loot	The loot accessories that must be obtained before a given equipment may be synthesized in the gil shop. Consumed on synthesis.
Base	The base equipment that must be obtained before a given item may be synthesized in the gil shop. Consumed on synthesis.
Tres	The story mode stage in which a typical treasure chest containing a given equipment may be encountered. Refer to the stage name and abbreviations table below.

RTrs	The story mode stage in which a rare treasure chest (obscured or behind a locked area) or bonus treasure chest (appears after obtaining the necessary story mode bonus) containing a given equipment may be encountered. Refer to the stage name and abbreviations table below.
DP	The story mode and associated Destiny Point value at which a given equipment may be obtained. Refer to the stage name and abbreviations table below.
Coli	The Duel Coliseum and condition on which a given equipment may be obtained. Refer to the stage name and abbreviations table below. If "Enemy" appears in the value qualification, the item must be dropped from an opponent; this is usually the case for Lufaine series items (see section [V] above). Otherwise, the number of medals that need to be exchanged for the item is indicated.
Fght	Story mode stages in which opponents guaranteed to possess a given item appear. Not exhaustively listed in this index; only two or three locations are recorded per item. You'll have to search out the enemy with the equipment you want yourself when you get to the stage named. Usually, there are easier ways to obtain the item.
Ghst	The Friendcard from which a given item may be obtained. Ghosts that possess a given item are not exhaustively indexed here in this list. A comprehensive listing of preset special ghosts and their equipment can be found in section [V] above, which also includes the passwords necessary to unlock certain ghosts.
PP	The PP Catalog item that must be purchased before a given item may be synthesized in the gil shop.
Miss	The mission that awards a given conditional accessory on completions. This value is listed with a mission number and qualification condition. Fulfilling mission qualifications is extremely trying and pointless. The general recommendation is that you attempt to play the game normally. Missions will eventually be completed without you having to check the mission log every two fights for progress.
Req	The Battle-Rise accessory that must be obtained as a prerequisite to unlock the obtaining of another Battle-Rise accessory. Alternatively, a condition that must be fulfilled for the same purpose.
Char	The character from which a given Battle-Rise loot may be obtained.
Map	The map from which a given Battle-Rise loot may be obtained on being damaged.
Pass	The password that must be entered within your Friendcard message settings in order to obtain a given arcana recipe-type loot material.
Othr	The means by which a given accessory may be obtained, if not by any other qualification. Used if an accessory may only be obtained via chocobo PlayPlan or from Mognet, or if a given accessory may be obtained by breaking Pebbles (a type of accessory).
Sale	The sell price of Pebbles. Noted to allow differentiation between types of Pebbles.

Note Miscellaneous notes.

fem Women's Equipment. May only used by Cloud, Kefka, and the other female characters.

tool Items from the "Tools" equipment class. May only be used by characters who have purchased the "Tools" equipment ability from the gil shop.

IV If this appears as an equipment column value for a non-weapon, only Cecil can equip the item in question.

all If this appears as an equipment column value, all characters may equip the item in question.

The following is a table of miscellaneous abbreviations that may appear in the index, annotated with explanations.
