* - The hazy image of a skull appears in outer space, drawing out four shining crystals from nearby planets. One bursts out of the ground, the second comes from the sands of a desert, the third rises out of a volcano, and the last emerges from the depths of an ocean.

    Light emanates from the skull as the crystals arrive before it, and each one releases a humanoid "Dark Force Bomber" associated with the climate of its planet. The light ripples, prompting them to nod and take their leave.

    The skull disappears, its place being taken by the image of a man named "Burglar", who signals for the Bombers to return to their planets.
    Bomberman sees one of them from his small spaceship, and pursues it.

* - In 1-4, the Earth Bomber makes his entrance on a rabbit named "Teebo".

Earth     :{1} See? I can crack the earth! Fear my power, Bomberman!
           {2} Why was I beaten so badly?!

* - In 1-5, he summons a walking tree.

Earth     :{1} You've run out of luck! Let's go, Toronto!
           {2} This can't be!

* - Upon Bomberman's victory, the crystals that he collected throughout the

* - As the last of the Bombers is defeated, the planet between theirs is sucked into a black hole, in front of which the skull appears.

    In 5-4, Burglar makes his entrance on the vehicle called "Rock-On-Armor".

Burglar   :{1} Well done, Bomberman. Welcome to my world.
           {2} You can't defeat me.

* - In 5-5, he summons a four-legged robot named "God-header". Upon its defeat, a humanoid robot with the same head appears from a black hole in the floor.

Burglar   :{1} The dark power is invincible. Give up, Bomberman.
           {2} The dark power will never die. I shall return!

* - Bomberman boards his spaceship and escapes from the black hole just as it begins to fill with light. He travels to Planet Bomber, where a crowd of people meet him, and give him a bouquet as they throw confetti.

    At the credits' end, the Dark Force Bombers are seen exiting the black hole.
