I. Notes:

This list contains 1483 (!) CDs and what they create in Monster Rancher. It is primarily composed of the CD collections of myself and the six different roommates I've had over the last three years, with a copy of the unique/rare list thrown in. It also includes a huge number of submissions sent in by all of my faithful readers, as listed below.

 As of Version 1.01f, I have decided to simply list the dates of each revision, and placed all contributors in a separate Credits section, since you probably don't care who did what for each and every version. This list is growing too fast for me to keep track of it that way anyway. Every contribution, no matter how small, will get a mention!

 Moved on to version 1.02 finally, I got tired of having to sing the alphabet song each time I got submissions ;) Man, the hits just keep comin'!

* As of 1.02c, 371 entries have been submitted by readers, which means you guys have almost contributed half of the list! I'm truly hoping to break the 1000 CD mark by the end of the summer!

*Almost there! I'll be adding the rare Spawn soundtrack monster as soon as I can find my copy. (Oops!) Many thanx to Brian Fleming for the complete Skinny Puppy discography, as well as about 80 other CDs!

Another minor update, still haven't found my Spawn CD yet :(Added a counter to the reader submission section; you guys are over half the list now! :) Also slightly revised the section on Ghosts, I still need some confirmation (see below) ...

1.02e beta - [9/22/99 but unreleased] MAJOR update: I finally hit 1000!!!! :) I got more new roommates! With a buncha CDs! I'm in heaven! Oh, and I separated the soundtracks from the regular CDs and put them in their own section...I've separated all the Sega stuff from the PC/misc stuff, and I hope to have some US Dreamcast games in here soon... Also please note that I am no longer accepting PC software submissions and have removed all of them from the list; I have discovered that CD-ROMs are repeatedly re-pressed (even throughout a single batch) as minor updates and revisions are issued, and it's nearly impossible to track all of the different monsters they produce. I may redo the PC stuff from the list at a future date, but for now I'm leaving it off. Also, the misc. icon (^) is now reserved for game magazine demo CDs only; the (*) icon is now for all home console video games. I added a notation (J) for Japanese import games; it looks ugly, but it'll do for now. I'll change it later... :)

*1.02f [12/31/00] - MASSIVE update #2: After over a year in limbo, the Mighty LIST! has returned!! Man, that took long enough! Many thanx to everyone who kept sending submissions even tho the project seemed to have died, especially those of you who sent in onesies and twosies...I didn't forget about you! After numerous changes in hardware and Internet access (as well as my personal life), I've finally managed to get caught up on the list and ready for more! I guess the next goal is to get back to 2000, since I dropped the total when I removed the PC listings. Keep those submissions rolling in!

And just in case you're interested, the totals next to your names take into account the fact that I process all submissions in the order that they are received, and I don't count duplicate entries. Of course, I've been eliminating tons of duplicates lately, since the last list is over a year old :(, but I hope to return to more semi-regular updates after this one. If I happen to have left anybody out, I promise it was an oversight, so please send me a reminder.

III. Legend

Regular Monster Types

DN = Dino	GO = Golem	TI = Tiger	PX = Pixie
WM = Worm	JL = Jell	SZ = Suezo	HA = Hare
GA = Gali	MO = Monol	NG = Naga	PL = Plant

Secret Monster Types

DR = Dragon	MA = Magic	HE = Henger	NY = Nya (CatDoll)
AP = Ape	DL = Doodle	DS = Disk	GH = Ghost

All monsters are listed in the following format:

Group - CD Title (note) Name (T1/T2) /or/ NAME

where T1 is the body type and T2 is the attribute/color type. In some cases T2 will equal ???, which indicates a unique monster. NAME in all-caps means the monster is a purebred of that type.

CD notes

s/t	= Self-titled
sndtrk	= soundtrack/musical score
comp	= compilation/sampler CD
$	= CD produces a rare/unique monster
*	= console game CD (PSX, Dreamcast, Saturn, 3DO, etc...)
(J)	= Japanese import game
^	= PC or miscellaneous CD

CDs that only contain one data track, such as many PSX and PC games, will always yield a purebreed monster, since it only has one track to generate both type and sub-type.

You cannot get a Dragon, Magic, Ape, Henger, Doodle or Nya from a CD until you have created one through the normal method first (i.e. with the items in the game). CDs are the only way I know of to get Disks. Several people have emailed in recent releases telling me how to get a Ghost, but I still don't know if you can get the rare "Mage" monster from CD without creating a regular Ghost first. Extra special thanx to anybody who can find out for me...

Unlike the rest, unique/rare monsters come from CDs that were hand-picked by the Tecmo staff, and all are patterned after the album's theme or the photograph on the CD cover. Eventually, I'll try to include a link to a website showing pictures of the monsters compared to the covers. As an example, Billy Joel's Greatest Hits shows a close-up of him wearing sunglasses. The CD generates 'Shades', an Ape wearing...sunglasses!

Also, note that certain CDs are re-pressed from time to time, changing the specific digital data locations on each track. Different versions of CDs will give different monsters. The most notable case of this is with the Nirvana CD 'Nevermind', used to get the "Karaoke" unique monster. Only the second release of this disc, with the bonus track, will yield the unique monster. If you have a CD on this list, and it doesn't give the monster I state, it's probably because you have a different release.

!!Update 1.02f!!:

According to Shiro Akaishi <akaishi@unity.unity.edu>, his copy of the PC game SubSpace also produces the Two-Tone (MO/???) unique monster. I have no way to confirm this, so if anyone else has gotten this, please let me know...

And now....
